Starwood Waypoint Homes Associates,

Over the past week our chief concern has been and continues to be the health and welfare of our employees, residents and neighbors in the Houston and Florida/East Coast areas. Hurricane Harvey has devastated or disrupted the lives and homes of millions of people in Southern Texas and we are preparing for Hurricane Irma and its potential effect on Florida and the East Coast States. We are committed at Starwood Waypoint Homes and Invitation Homes to support the Texas and Florida/East Coast communities affected by this tragedy, and our thoughts are with all who have been or may be impacted.

This past week in Dallas, senior management from both companies held the first of many integration planning meetings with department leaders. The meetings were coordinated by the newly formed cross organizational and functional integration team managed by Arik Prawer, current CFO of Starwood Waypoint Homes. Arik will be serving as the Chief Integration Officer for the planned merger integration process, which we expect to be accomplished by mid-2019. We continue to be energized by the collaboration among all those participating in this important integration planning project and look forward to bringing our two companies together. The first order of last week's meetings was to finalize the top level executive leadership positions ("C-Suite") and identify the critical items that need to be resolved both pre and post the closing of the transaction.

The final two executives in the C-suite were identified and their teams were consulted. It is important to note that both companies will be well represented in the new C-Suite. We are pleased to announce:

- Larry Gorman, Chief Technology Officer (CTO) of Starwood Waypoint Homes, will be the new CTO of Invitation Homes, splitting his time between Dallas and Scottsdale
- Stacey Rapiere, Chief Human Resources Officer (CHRO) of Invitation Homes, will remain the CHRO post-closing

Along with Larry and Stacey, as previously announced, the composition of the executive leadership team will include:

- Fred Tuomi, Chief Executive Officer

- Ernie Freedman, Chief Financial Officer
- Charles Young, Chief Operating Officer
- Dallas Tanner, Chief Investment Officer
- Mark Solls, Chief Legal Officer

From an integration planning perspective, with these last two executives identified, we will continue to determine the optimal business and technology strategies to guide future decisions, along with ensuring we will have the appropriate programs in place to support our associates. While it will take time to work through many of the remaining key implementation decisions, we are focused on determining the best practices and people between the two companies. As we have mentioned previously, as in any merger, there are redundancies in processes, systems and people, and difficult decisions have to be made. A special note of gratitude goes out to all of our team members for their continued leadership and outstanding professionalism through this transition period.

In addition to finalizing the C-Suite, each company has agreed to implement severance guidelines for all associates. In the event that an associate's position is impacted by future restructuring as a result of the merger, the new guidelines are designed to support those affected and provide a bridge of income and benefits to future employment. The guidelines will provide for a lump sum salary component covering a "severance period" and health care benefits continuation for that same period if the company eliminates an associate's position not for "cause". An associate's severance benefits generally will be based on title and length of employment as set forth below:

Associate Classification

Non-Exempt Associate

Severance Amount/Continuation Period

The greater of:

- 8 weeks of Base Pay, and
- 2 weeks of Base Pay + 1 week of Base Pay per year of service

Exempt Associate (other than Vice Presidents)

The greater of:

- 13 weeks of Base Pay, and
- 1 week of Base Pay per year of service

Vice Presidents

6 months of Base Pay

We will plan to communicate organization decisions as early as practicable to inform all associates about future changes to the corporate and field organizational structure.

Most importantly, we want to emphasize the combined company will need the majority of our associates, and these severance guidelines are specifically for those dedicated associates for which redundancies, geography or new practices would result in an associate not continuing with the combined company post-closing. Our desire is to have a straightforward transition for those impacted that is respectful of and consistent with our shared corporate values. As a result, we all must continue to perform at our highest and most professional levels through this transition period. The goal should be to make all of our associates successful, either in their new roles with the new Invitation Homes, or in opening up new chapters for departing associates.

For now, we need to stay grounded in our operating priorities, stay true to delivering an outstanding resident experience, and continue to execute on our key business targets and objectives for the balance of this year. As a team, we want to reiterate our commitment to providing frequent and transparent communication to all associates during this transition period. That said, we don't have all the answers as of today, and we ask for your continued support and patience as we work through the integration planning process. We look forward to providing our next update to you soon.

It's hard to believe that it's only been four weeks since the announcement that we entered into an agreement to merge with Invitation Homes. We are working very hard to consider all aspects of the combination of the two companies and we are making steady progress – while continuing our absolute focus on successfully running our separate businesses. We truly appreciate everyone's hard work to assure that we continue to excel as we have throughout the history of our company.

Thank you all!

Fred
